Overview

The aim of this course is to provide you with the opportunity to develop your research skills through the production of a research thesis. As a research course it is designed to improve your prospects of acceptance into research degree programs at UNSW and other universities. Furthermore, POLS5113 is designed to enhance your opportunities for a career change, a promotion within your career, or to work in a particular area of interest.

This 15,000 word thesis course is offered as part of the requirements for the completion of the Master of International Law and International Relations (MILIR) degree program at UNSW. You must have achieved a Distinction (75%) in four courses to enrol in this course. Two of these four courses must include POLS5125 Politics of International Law and one other POLS-coded course. POLS5113 may only be undertaken with the permission of the MILIR Coordinator in the School of Social Sciences. Application forms to undertake this course are usually emailed to students 3-4 weeks before the start of the semester in which you intend to enrol in the research project. MILIR students may enrol in either LAWS8423 (Research Thesis) or POLS5113 (Thesis), but not both.
