Overview

This course in the Master of Counselling Social Work (MCSW) program will develop your knowledge of counselling practice and skills, and your capacities for reflection on use of self and the counselling process. The interactive and collaborative style of learning and teaching uses small group consultation and is grounded in active learning from your own social work counselling practice. The course will provide the opportunity for you to develop more advanced capacities in your counselling and reflective practice through a focus on case presentation, discussion, and analysis.
