Overview

Stream C stream is one of three streams in the Master of Landscape Architecture Program. Stream C provides an opportunity for students from with a bachelor degree from an accredited landscape architecture program to undertake the Master of Landscape Architecture at UNSW. Students in Stream C will complete a 1 year, 48 UoC program of study.

The program will sit alongside the Master of Architecture (MArch) and the Master of City Planning (MCP), also accredited post graduate offerings in the Faculty of Built Environment. The program is structured into three streams: Streams B and C are available to students with bachelor's qualifications in cognate disciplines, and Stream A is available to students from non-cognate disciplines. All streams in the program feature core courses fundamental to contemporary, professional practice of Landscape Architecture. To meet both the Australian Qualification Framework (AQF) and Australian Institute of Landscape Architect's (AILA) criteria for Master's degree level of study, each stream in the program culminates in a capstone research based design studio, with research methods and projects core components of the curriculum.
