Overview

Computer Science involves the study of the design, construction and uses of computer systems. It is concerned with the representation of data and data structures in computer systems and the design of algorithms for automatic manipulation of this information by programming languages and machine systems. It is very much concerned with the design and development of hardware and software tools by which computer applications may be developed, but not so much with the applications themselves. It is, however, noted that non-computing elements (such as human interface or psychological aspects) can often dictate the level of success of computing systems. At UNSW, particular emphasis is given to comprehension of the basic principles behind computing tools, operating systems, compilers and translators, and computer hardware.

Program Structure

Students must complete 144 UOC as a standalone program.

1. complete a 96 UOC CS major stream
2. optionally, complete a 18-36 UOC minor stream
3. 0-36 UOC of Free Electives
4. 12 UOC of General Education

Majors

COMPA1 is the default stream, and will be used if no other stream is selected.

Professional Outcomes

Accreditations

Professional institutes that offer accreditation on completion of this program:

- Australian Computer Society

This degree is accredited by the Australian Computer Society (2016).

Career Opportunities

Software engineer/developer, consultant, chief technology officer, database developer, game programmer, systems analyst, systems engineer.
Recognition of Achievement

University Medal

The University Medal is awarded to recognise outstanding academic performance by a bachelor degree student in line with the University Medal Policy and University Medal Procedure.

Award of Pass with Distinction

The Award of Pass with Distinction is awarded when a weighted average mark (WAM) of at least 75% has been achieved and at least 50% of the requirements of the award completed at UNSW. All eligible programs will award Pass with Distinction except in special circumstances where approval of Academic Board has been given for a program to opt out.
