Overview

The UNSW Preparation program 17-19 Arts stream is designed to provide a pathway to study in the Humanities and Social Sciences at UNSW Australia for students aged 17-19 with potential and an interest in tertiary education but who have suffered educational and/or social disadvantage and/or do not possess the required assumed knowledge to gain entry into their preferred program. It provides an opportunity for students with a selection rank* that is 50 or above, who do not meet the entry requirements of their preferred program at UNSW, and who meet the admission criteria listed earlier.

*A selection rank is an ATAR or equivalent that includes any bonus points.

Students who enrol in the Arts stream will have the opportunity to:

- strengthen their academic literacy and communication skills;
- develop their critical and analytical thinking;
- complete introductory courses in their chosen field and
- adjust to University study within a strong support structure
